DEATHS

JAMES M. LUMBARD

James M. Lumbard, a veteran printer in Elmira, with more than half century of service on the city newspapers, died this morning at 9 o'clock at the family home, 404 Crescent avenue, aged seventy years.

Mr. Lumbard first learned the printers' trade on the Elmira Gazette about fifty-five years ago. His father was Zachary Lumbard, an old time printer. He later was employed on the Elmira Advertiser and was an efficient workman. Mr. Lumbard was a man of kindly nature and held the friendship of scores of people with whom he came in contact during his long life. He was a charter member of Massasoit Tribe, I. O. of R. M., the K. O. T. M. and the Elmira Typographical Union.

JAMES M. LUMBARD

The decedent is survived by his widow, three daughters, Miss Edna M. Lumbard at home; Mrs. Guy Dennis and Mrs. F. Raymond Parsons; also a son, Elmer M., all of Elmira; a sister, Mrs. Oral Ensworth of this city and a brother, Frank Lumbard of Blossburg, Pa.; a grand daughter, Mrs. Catherine Ferguson of Elmira. The funeral will be held at the home, Wednesday at 2 o'clock, the Rev. R. Vieweg to officiate. Burial in Woodlawn cemetery.
