

A. C. Lumbard

Dies at 86

Azro C. (Doc) Lumbard, 88, of Lower Country Club Drive died Wednesday after an illness of several days.

Mr. Lumbard was a pressman by trade. He worked at one time for the Sunday Telegram and in later years for the Corning Leader. He had been retired for several years.

His hobby was fishing. He spent many hours fishing in the Chemung River until illness curtailed his activities a few years ago.

Star-Gazette

Elmira, NY

Friday, November 11, 1960

Page 2, Column 9