

DIED.

In Weathersfield, March 24th. Miss FRANCEMA A., daughter of Mr. Nahum Lombard, aged 18 years.

Miss Lombard had been laboring under strong symptoms of consumption for a few months past, which were alarmingly and but too fatally increased by an attack of the measles. The disease then progressed rapidly and triumphantly, regardless of all the remedial agents employed, until her demise.

By this bereavement a father and mother, a brother and sisters, are called to mourn the loss of one whose memory will long remain behind to cheer their disconsolate and afflicted hearts. She possessed in no common degree many endearing virtues,—the meek and deep devotion of a daughter's affection,—the pure disinterestedness of a sister's love,—the fervent sincerity of a friend's attachment. She was an ornament to the sphere in which she moved, and society has lost one of its most exemplary and worthy members. Her modest worth and mild and lovely disposition endeared her to a large circle of friends who cannot but be deeply impressed with the serious truth, that "In the midst of life we are in death," and with the solemn admonition, "Be ye also ready."

"Calm be the spot where her form now repositeth,
May the friends who so loved revisit the grave,
And feel—though the cold sod her ashes encloseth,
She lives in the presence of Him who can save."

B.

The Vermont Journal

Windsor, VT

Friday, April 2, 1852

Page 3, Column 2